

My Opinion of Transport in Hong Kong

Among all kinds of transport, I like travelling by MTR in Hong Kong. But I do not like travelling by tram.

My favourite type of transport is the MTR. I enjoy travelling by MTR because it is fast. I go jogging in Victoria Park every Sunday. It only takes 10 minutes from my home which is in North Point to Victoria Park. Travelling by MTR is convenient too. Since I live near the MTR station, it just takes 3 minutes to get there. There are many MTR stations in Kowloon, Hong Kong Island and on Lantau too. Therefore, we can go anywhere conveniently. Travelling by MTR is cool too. Especially in summer as there are air conditioners so we do not feel very hot. The metal seats are cool. Although travelling by MTR is fast, convenient and cool, I think it is a bit expensive.

I hate travelling by tram for several reasons. First, travelling by tram is very hot. There are neither air conditioners nor fans in the trams. Therefore, we feel very hot in summer. I sweat a lot on the tram after having my PE lesson, which is the last lesson. Next, travelling by tram is slow too. There are a lot of stations, so the tram stops very often. It takes a longer time to go to a destination. Sometimes, the driver drives slowly. Lastly, travelling by tram is uncomfortable because the seats are made of plastic which is too hard to sit on. They are also crowded in the afternoons, so I seldom get a seat. Although travelling by tram is hot, slow and uncomfortable, it is cheap.

I think travelling by MTR is better than by tram.

A Robbery at Moon Restaurant

Last Thursday evening, there was a robbery at Moon Restaurant at a quarter to eight. When the cashier Doris was talking on the phone, a robber got in and used a knife to scare her and shouted, "Give me the money, or else I will kill you!" Doris was scared so she left the cash register and let the robber get everything he wanted.

Fortunately, the manager saw what happened, so he sneaked to the alarm. He saw that the robber was putting the money into his bag. The manager turned on the alarm and secretly called the police.

When the police arrived at Moon Restaurant, the robber was escaping on a motorbike. The police called, "Stop! Robber!" Unfortunately for the robber, the motorbike ran out of fuel so he jumped off and ran.

The robber ran to a building and went up the stairs. The bag was full of money so it was very heavy. The robber slowed down and then he tripped and fell! Officer Chan caught him using a pair of handcuffs.

In the end, the robber was taken into the police car. He felt upset. The manager and Doris were happy when the stolen money was returned to them. They said, "Thank you!"
