

Chinese New Year

Chinese New Year is a great festival for all Chinese people. Among all the festivals in a year, I love Chinese New Year best.

Before Chinese New Year, we are all very busy. We need to clean our house. We need to put up spring couplets. We need to buy flowers to decorate our house.

Last Chinese New Year, we woke up very early. We visited our grandparents. We greeted each other and then they gave us red packets. After that, we had lunch together. I played with my cousins. We had a great day there.

On the second day of Chinese New Year, we went to Tsim Sha Tsui to watch the fireworks. The fireworks were very amazing and beautiful!

During Chinese New Year holidays, I ate a lot of delicious food such as fish, dumplings, spring rolls, good fortune fruits, tangyuan, longevity noodles and rice cakes. I love all these foods. I believe I have gained a lot of weight after this festival. I also got a lot of red packets. I promised my mum that I would save some in the bank and we used some to buy my favourite story books.

Chinese New Year is a great festival. I wish you all good health and happiness in the year of the Rabbit.

One Sunday

Last Sunday, Dad came home from Macau by ferry. Mum was not very happy with him because he wasted too much money to come home. I was very excited because I could play video games with Dad.

After Dad had taken a bath, I switched on the video game. The game that we wanted to play was new. It was released one hour ago! At first, we needed to select a character before playing. Each character has special powers. Once we finished selecting, the game started! We rolled the dice in the game. In this game, we could grab coins and use tools such as fireballs and jumbo-sized mushrooms to boost our powers. The player who got the most coins was the winner!

Suddenly, the screen went blank! I was shocked and jumped up. Dad checked it and said that it was broken. We were crest-fallen because we could not play video games for a while. In the end, Mum cheered us up and took us to Pizza Express to have dinner. We ate mouth-watering fried chicken, delicious pizza, tasty French fries and more.

I hope I can buy a new TV set to play video games with Dad again.