

My Opinion of Transport in Hong Kong.

I like travelling by the Star Ferry but I don't like travelling by the MTR.

The Star Ferry is my favorite type of transport in Hong Kong. Travelling by the Star Ferry is convenient because the ferry pier is near to my home. I just need to walk for a few minutes. Travelling by the Star Ferry is cheap too! Last Sunday I went to the Space Museum with my cousins. Then we went home by the Star Ferry. It cost only 2.5 dollars from Tsim Sha Tsui to Wan Chai. I like taking photos too. That's why I enjoy travelling by the Star Ferry. I think it is relaxing. Although it is slow, I don't mind; I like feeling the cool breeze of the sea, therefore I always travel by the Star Ferry.

I hate travelling by the MTR. Although travelling by the MTR is fast, it is crowded. I can never get a seat, so I have to stand for a long time and I have to smell the sweat of other passengers. The MTR seats are very uncomfortable because all of the seats are made of metal so I really hate travelling by the MTR. I also think that the MTR is inconvenient; I have to walk for a long time from my home to the MTR station.

I think the MTR is the worst transport in Hong Kong but the Star Ferry is the best.

Perseverance

There was a time when I kept trying to play the drums and persevered through a challenge.

When I was five, I spotted a drummer playing the drums in a show. It inspired me to become a drummer. After that day, I persuaded my mother to buy me a drum set. However, she said that I would give up easily. So, I wrote a commitment statement and promised to work hard on playing the drums. Finally, she bought it for me.

At first, I thought that becoming a drummer was a piece of cake. Yet the drums were so high that I couldn't reach them. I was extremely depressed. Then I stacked my drum stool on a wooden box so that I was high enough to beat the drums. I put on platform shoes when I practiced playing the drums so I could step on the pedals easily. I found ways to overcome all difficulties.

Now I am taller and I can reach the drums easily. I practise a lot everyday. I took a drum exam last year and I passed the test with flying colours.

I will continue to practise playing the drums, and I hope I can have a chance to perform on the stage one day.
